Vietnam's Coastline

The long, sinuous coastline of Vietnam is home to some of Asia's best beaches, but also has treasures like the UNESCO-listed town of Hoi An, with its colonial architecture and traditional crafts and the beautiful seaside village of Phan Thiet, famous for its desert-like sand dunes, tumbledown Cham ruins and vibrant fish markets.

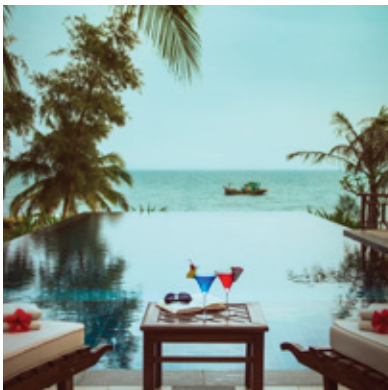

VICTORIA HOI AN BEACH RESORT & SPA

Located 5km away from the Hoi An Ancient Town, The Victoria Hoi An Beach Resort & Spa is a little gem bursting with personality and local flavour.

The resort is ideally flanked on both sides by water, overlooking the sea to the front and backed by the picturesque Thu Bon River.

Its architecture reflects the personality of the property and the culture of her surroundings. Incorporating Japanese, Portuguese, Chinese and of course, Vietnamese elements, the resort is a harmonious marriage of the many cultures that have shaped this unique town. Add to that the European style of management and the quintessentially Hoi An sense of hospitality and it's easy to see why our guests come back again and again.

VICTORIA PHAN THIET BEACH RESORT & SPA

The Victoria Phan Thiet Beach Resort & Spa is everything that the other hotels in the area are not. It is secluded, peaceful, elegant and welcoming.

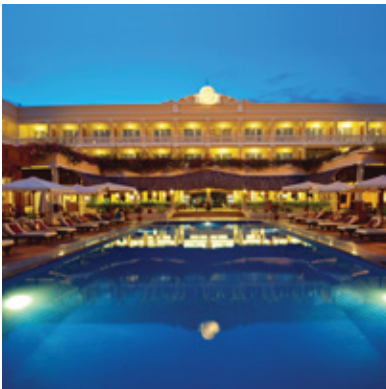

Built in the style of traditional Vietnamese country houses, the resort features 57 romantic thatched roof bungalows set amongst beautifully landscaped gardens, allowing it to merge harmoniously with its surroundings overlooking the sea.

Take advantage of our Victoria heritage to enjoy a unique stay at a seaside village - not just another few days in a lounge chair but a real feeling of being in Vietnam. We take care to share genuine local experiences, culture and cuisine with our guests.

Mekong Experiences

Located in the south of Vietnam, the Mekong Delta is one of the most authentic and underexplored destinations in Southeast Asia. The region is a source of endless fascination, from narrow waterways, fruit orchards and smiling children to wide rivers where huge wooden barges tussle for the best trading spots in the floating markets.

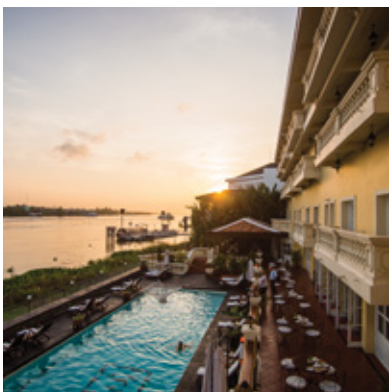

Whether cruising along the waterways of the Delta aboard our elegant Victoria Cruises or spending time in our landmark hotels, each of the journeys promises to be unforgettable

VICTORIA CAN THO RESORT

The Victoria Can Tho Resort fronts the Hau River, a tributary of the mighty Mekong. Built around the picturesque swimming pool, the resort blends colonial-style architecture with the natural beauty of the river amidst spacious gardens.

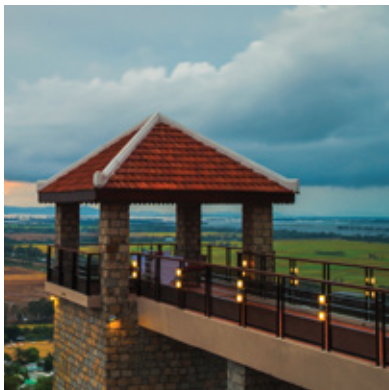

Just a 5-minute complimentary shuttle boat ride away from Can Tho's Ninh Kieu Pier, the city's many restaurants, museums, Buddhist temples and Khmer pagodas are within easy walking distance. Other attractions, including the famed floating market, are accessible by scenic boat rides.

VICTORIA CHAU DOC HOTEL

Built at the Three Rivers Crossing, the low-rise colonial architecture of Victoria Chau Doc Hotel offers breathtaking views of the river. Guests can also explore the adjacent river walk, a pedestrian-only area where families come out to watch the river and where children play pick-up football games.

An easy stroll to the Chau Doc market and center of town, the Victoria Chau Doc Hotel is also a stylish base to explore the nearby Tra Su Bird Sanctuary, the Chau Doc Floating Market and historic Tuc Dup Hill. Its close proximity to the border makes the hotel an ideal stop for travelers between Cambodia and the Mekong Delta.

VICTORIA NUI SAM LODGE

If Victoria Chau Doc Hotel epitomises the Victoria old-world atmosphere on the banks of the Bassac River, Victoria Nui Sam Lodge offers an authentic immersion into life in the rural Mekong Delta.

Built on the slopes of Sam Mountain, the resort overlooks a glorious panorama of paddy fields, a stunning background during sunrise or sunset which can be viewed from your private terrace, by the infinity pool or simply sitting on a rock ledge - a spiritual moment in a sensational location.

VICTORIA CRUISES

The arteries of the Mekong Delta are its waterways which irrigate its lush rice paddies, enable transport and feed its people. Experience the Mekong Delta in all its beauty from the unique vantage point of a traditional sampan as you slowly cruise past stilt houses and gardens, fishermen casting their nets and home factories churning out everything from noodles to coconut candy to clay bricks. Our guests are guaranteed to take away extraordinary memories and amazing photo opportunities and will almost certainly discover their own version of the real Indochina.

Nestled in a lush fruit orchard, Le Longanier Restaurant with its throwback colonial style offers a magical stop for visitors to the Mekong Delta. The restaurant specialises in dishes from Vietnam's south, combining fresh herbs and locally-sourced fruits, vegetables and fish.

Mountain Retreat

Originally established as a colonial hill station, the village of Sapa is set against the scenic Hoang Lien Mountains of Vietnam. The area is known for its stunning beauty, both natural and cultural, as it is home to ethnic hill tribe minorities who still wear traditional dress and speak their own dialect, as well as picturesque terraced rice fields in the shadow of Mount Fansipan, Indochina's highest point.

VICTORIA SAPA RESORT & SPA

The mountains of northern Vietnam are among the most spectacularly beautiful scenic areas in Asia and Sapa is a must see for any avid traveller.

Nestled amongst the slopes of this mountainous region is Victoria Sapa Resort & Spa, built in the style of a traditional mountain chalet in seamless harmony with the natural surroundings. The resort has the atmosphere of an Alpine lodge, with many European touches but a clearly Asian soul.

Experience the thrill of travel's Golden Age once more with the Victoria Express Train - an iconic Pullman-style carriage which takes you back into a delightful world of travel and romance.

Luang Prabang

Visually stunning Luang Prabang is the best of all worlds, a fusion of traditional Lao and European colonial architecture set on a quiet peninsula formed by the Mekong and the Nam Khan River. This remarkably well-preserved town is also home to a vibrant night market, chic boutiques and trendy restaurants, all set against the backdrop of sacred Mount Phousi, serene riverscape and dozens of richly decorated temples.

VICTORIA XIENGTHONG PALACE

In sleepy Laos, the town of Luang Prabang is a true jewel on the banks of the Mekong River, captivating the hearts and minds of countless travellers over the years.

On the grounds that once were the residence of the last King of Laos, Victoria Xiangthong Palace is a beautiful boutique hotel occupying the tip of the peninsula of the picturesque ancient city of Luang Prabang. The hotel is a masterpiece of Lao design enhanced with newly built traditional elements to accommodate the services of a modern boutique hotel.
